

Valuable Papers

When valuable papers are lost, there's a need to establish their worth.

As the world's premier forensic accounting firm, MDD has the experience and expertise required to render a professional assessment. Our forensic accountants will help you arrive at the value of lost papers, whether they're hard copies, electronic files, plans, blueprints, medical, financial or operating records or research and development documentation.

We'll work with you to establish how and when the papers were last used and why they'll be needed in the future. Our experts will also confirm all identified cost elements, analyze pertinent information and present these findings in a clear and concise manner.

Our forensic accounting services include:

- Cataloguing the loss
- Deploying various techniques to measure the actual loss
- Working with all parties to explore and uncover alternative information sources
- Providing recommendations for fair replacement costs
- Monitoring the replacement process to verify document replacement
- Working with other consultants on issues that require immediate attention
- Expert and consulting witness testimony

For help determining the true worth of valuable papers, hire MDD.