B.Math | CPA, CA, CFE, CFF | Senior Partner | Global Energy Practice Leader

Forensic Accounting Expert in the Oil and Gas Industry

In a nation with natural resources as rich and abundant as those found in Canada, it is natural that Brad's forensic accounting experience includes oil and gas.

Brad's involvement in the oil and gas industry began early in his career, working with people that had a position of influence such as Robert Prefontaine, Michael Mutcheson, Norman Matson and Mike Driscoll. These globally renowned experts introduced Brad to the industry, nurtured his experience and developed his professional interest.

Over the last 30+ years, Brad has worked on oil and gas related matters from coast to coast in Canada and the United States. His experience spans the extraction, refining and downstream petrochemical processing and encompasses a wide range of operations, facilities and situations. He often provides economic damage quantification assessments for losses involving:
